

Andy's Thoughts

Hello... and welcome to my occasional thoughts. I am Andy, I live here at Monte Naturista O Barão with my wife Jill, my dog Sid, a cat named TomTom and my lovely goat Nellie. We first came here in our caravan in June 2007 to camp and look for our own place in the sun. We never left! Since then this little paradise has grown into what is in my opinion the best naturist site... in the world! In the coming months I'll keep in touch, through this page, with news, opinions and info.

March

Jill and I are back at Montnaturista which is being readied for the Spring and Summer. We took 12 days to drive back with our little caravan, visiting Nantes, then our Jenni's father, who rents out a holiday gite in Jumilhac le Grande, then St Jean de Luz, Burgos, Toledo and finally Almanat near Malaga. Almanat has over 400 pitches as many of you know. Too crowded for me after the space available here in Barao. The nearby town and the beach, however, were great. We met some lovely people there. Our journey was made so much more interesting by the GPS which thinks it funny to send me over mountain passes and through tiny villages or the middle of Madrid. I think she hates me. Still I did not hit anything this time. No dents were put into the caravan. It is parked outside of the cabin now, awaiting a clean. This cannot be done right now, as along with most of Europe we are having a whole years worth of much needed rain, in one week.

Had a lovely reunion with Miggs, the dog from along the road and after two days our cat has forgiven our absence and come home.

Can you see an end to this long long winter. The Meteo people say that around 10 March things will improve. There are arctic conditions in Northern Europe and U.K. I was waiting in the cold for a bus when the lady in front of me complained that she made many mistakes when texting with frozen fingers. I nodded to her and said " It's the early signs of typhothermia". At least it is warmer heresee you, Andy.
